BURNING PROCESS and DEFLATION

To assure a smooth and consistent Deflation of the MATATA, Hakuna Matata has installed a Burning process that consists of Buying Back Circulating Token from the Market and Sending them to a Burn Wallet, which is a Wallet that no one has access to. Meaning that the Token sent to this wallet will not be withdrawn, sold, or transferred to any other wallet once the transaction is completed.

As a result of this, there will be less circulating Token/supply on the market which will perpetually inflate the price of MATATA and decrease the depreciation of the token from people who are selling their Unstaked token for Profit. To achieve this, the Company will charge a 10% transaction fee every time someone claims for their MATATA and another 10% at the Maturity of the Stake.

The Fees collected from the transaction will contribute to the Token BuyBack and Marketing purposes respectfully as 70% and 30%. HAKUNA MATATA targets a Token burn of up to 70% until the Total supply left on market consists of 100 Billion MATATA, at that Stage the company will revisit the Burning procedure and target.
